Dear Sir,

The grandiose plans for the Knik Arm Bridge, the Gravina Bridge and the road to Juneau at the expense of Alaska's existing transportation infrastructure support is wrong!

We need to improve and maintain the Ferry system and existing roads in Alaska, not ignore the long planned and desperately needed local maintenance and improvements.

These grand schemes may provide a few "monuments", but at what expense? These wild ideas that cripple long established and proven transportation systems in Alaska are not in the best public interest. There is no substitute for Southeast Alaska Ferries!

Sincerely,

Jimmie C. Rosenbruch
